Johns Hopkins School of Public Health – MICUA Lab Renovation

615 North Wolfe Street
Baltimore, MD 21205

Owner: Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health

This project required a complete demolition and renovation of one lab on each floor 5 and 6 and 2 labs on floor 7 totalling 15,000 s.f. of laboratory space in the School of Public Health Building. Due to the size of the project, demolition and renovation were completed in 2 phases. During the first phase, the labs on floors 5 and 7 were demolished and renovated into modern laboratory space. The balance of the project, labs on the 6th and 7th floors was Phase 2.

Included in the new laboratory space is new HVAC, electrical, sprinklers, plumbing, drywall, fume hoods and laboratory casework.
